Fence Post Yields Woman's Lost Purse

A woman's purse, missing since November 22, was found this week hanging from a fence post near Ad Hall.

The purse belonged to Mrs. R. L. Turner of Ft. Worth. It was intact, complete with wallet and credit cards, but minus $80. Mrs. Turner said the purse was taken from her car when they stopped at a Cameron service station last November. It was found by county road workers and turned over to Sheriff Carl Black.

Barber's Career Spans 60 Years

The lines formed early on Saturday for a hot bath and straight edged razor shave when W. A. Heath started in the barber business. That was 1911 and the place was the Otto Schmidt Barber Shop at Houston & Main.

Heath retired Saturday after almost 60 years as a barber, first at Schmidts, then at the plush Auditorium Barber Shop, and finally in his present location on the courthouse square.

Heath and Charlie Swift formed a partnership in 1923 to buy the Palace Barber Shop. Those were the days when customers stopped in every day for a shave and hair was worn full and just trimmed at the neck.

"We had four barbers working all the time and two porters to shine shoes and fix baths," Heath said.

"We charged 25 cents for a bath and would take in up to $14 on a Saturday just from the baths." They had a 100 gallon reservoir of water that was kept hot with a coal fire for the three 6 ft. tubs. This was a booming business until 1928 when gas came to Cameron.

Shaves were 15 cents then and a haircut brought 35 cents.

There were lots of traveling salesmen in Cameron in those early years. "I got so that I could almost always predict accurately who would be elected governor by asking each stranger one question, 'Who's running for Governor from your part of the state?'" But Heath said he rarely talked politics with his customers. "Politics and business don't mix," he said. Number one conversation over the 60 years has been sports.

He said the courthouse location was more exciting in years gone by. A big trial would bring lots of customers into his shop for the latest news, and local elections were taken more seriously.

"For months before an election there would be 'political speakings' all over town. The last week there would be a big rally on the courthouse lawn with people from all over the county here. There were always several candidates for each local office," he said.

Asked how barbering has changed, Heath said the big change was the safety razor. "When I started, each customer had a shaving mug with their name and we had a big case in the shop to store them," he said he gave few shaves in recent years, but still used the long straight blade.

Heath said the long hair fad of today reminded him of the "Buster Brown" style of 70 years ago. "The young men wore their hair shoulder length and people laughed about it and made fun about like they are doing now," Heath said. "That style lasted about a year."

The barber shop at 106 S. Central has undergone few changes over the years. Plate glass mirrors line the walls, iron coat racks stand in corners and leather razor straps hang from the shops' four chairs.

The building was built specifically for a barber shop by F. W. Reed in 1902. He sold it to Hess Humble who operated it for several years. W. D. Favors owned the shop when Swift and Heath bought it.

Heath sold his interest to Clifford Whiteley several years ago and retired for a short time, but returned to work when Swift retired.

Asked about future plans, Heath said his first job will be to care for his wife of 60 years who is ill. Then he wants to do some fishing, visit with old friends in his native Walker Co. (Huntsville), see more of his children, Roy, Arthur Preiss of Houston, Roy M. Heath of Waco and Joe Bill Heath of Pasadena, and 5 grandchildren.

4-Year Sentence For Austin Men

A 12-man District petit jury Thursday returned a verdict of guilty in the case of the State vs. David M. Elliott, Walter Homer Snow, Jr., and Frederick Earl Callaway.

Possession of marijuana was charged against the three young Austin men in the case in 20th District Court before Judge William Wallace.

Judge Wallace heard testimony from the fathers of Callaway and Snow, and the wife of Elliott in their request for probation before setting sentence. District Atty. John B. Henderson, Jr. argued the probationary plea to be out of the question, due to the nature of the offense.

Sentence was set at four years in the state penitentiary for the three youths, pending investigation by the Adult Probation Board in Austin. Final sentencing is tentatively set for Friday, February 20.

Prosecution testimony during the trial was given by Leonard E. Smith, a Thorndale farmer; Department of Public Safety

Nursing Homes May Face Crisis

Area nursing homes may be facing a crisis after April 1. That's when a 20 percent cut in medical assistance payments for welfare recipients will go into effect.

The cut was voted Monday by the State Board of Public Welfare and will affect all categories of welfare recipients. Spending for Aid to Families with Dependent Children was also trimmed by 9 percent.

Both cuts were blamed on a shortage of funds and increasing welfare rolls.

How the cut will affect nursing homes in Cameron is uncertain, but the problem is serious.

William Watkins, co-owner of Cameron Nursing Home and Colonial Nursing Home, said, "I don't know what we'll do." Watkins said the homes cannot operate at a loss, and cannot cut salaries because employees are covered under the minimum wage law.

Ninety percent of the residents in local nursing homes receive medical aid payments, Watkins said. He added that there are no plans for closing the homes at this time, and said the situation should be clearer by next week.

Nursing homes were also faced with an 11 percent boost in employees wages on February 1.

The Texas Nursing Home Association warned Governor Preston Smith that the cut will close 95 percent of the nursing homes in Texas, according to The Houston Post.

TNHA president Land D. Wall of Lubbock, in a letter to Gov. Smith, said, "It is most evident that this reduction will result in a situation in which 95 percent of all nursing homes will not be in a position to continue to maintain their existence."

The downfall of these nursing homes, he said, will result in: --Approximately 35,300 medical aid recipients in Texas long-term care facilities will be "denied their homes in addition to the nursing care so vital to the majority of them."

--Some 30,000 nursing home employees "will find themselves facing unemployment."

--More than $100 million in mortgage loans "will be rendered virtually valueless."

"Nothing short of immediate action by (you) can resolve our unfortunate and untenable situation," the Post quoted Wall. The letter urged the governor to call a special session of the Legislature to solve the crisis.

Medical assistance payments are not bound by the ceiling in the constitution on AFDC, Aid to the Blind, Old Age Assistance and Aid to the Permanently and Totally Disabled.

The president of the Texas Medical Association, in a news release issued Friday, cited three factors contributing to the financial troubles of Texas' medical aid program.

Dr. Charles Max Cole of Dallas, president of TMA, said, "State funds appropriated for the operation of the program during the current biennium are not sufficient to fulfill anticipated budgetary requirements."

"The problem has been accentuated by the reduction of federal matching funds from a ratio of almost 4-1 to about 2-1 at present."

A third contributing factor is the increase in the number of recipients on the welfare rolls from approximately 350,000 at the start of the Medicaid program in September, 1967, to more than 500,000 at this time," he said.

In 1968, the state welfare department paid nursing homes $61 million, and $90.5 million in fiscal 1969. The reduction of matching federal funds resulted in Texas now receiving $110 million less than it got a year ago under the old formula.

A deficit of $17 million would have been run up by the state this year if it had maintained its present medical assistance program. The deficit would have reached $25 million next year.

Black said a Buckholts man reported that Salazar had attempted to sell a new high powered rifle to him Tuesday. Salazar was arrested Tuesday night and Montabla was picked up about 2 a.m. Wednesday.

Sheriff Black said Montabla led him to the guns, six high powered rifles and a shot gun which were wrapped in blankets and hidden under roadside brush. The watches were found in a satchel on a gravel road near Buckholts.

The two men were transferred to Gatesville by Coryell County authorities.

Stolen Rifles Stashed On County Road

Sheriff Carl Black uncovered a stash of rifles and watches early Wednesday that had been hidden under roadside bushes near Buckholts. They had been reported stolen from a store in Gatesville last weekend.

Joe Salazar and Jimm Montabla, both of Buckholts, were arrested in connection with the theft.

Yoe Booster Banquet Set

Tonight at 7 the Cameron High School Yoeman Football Banquet will be held in the Methodist Fellowship Hall. Guest speaker for the event will be "Catfish" Smith, Promotion Director for the Baylor Bear Club in Waco.

Smith, a noted banquet speaker in this area, is a former high school coach and college mentor. He led his teams to state basketball championships at Carey and Mt. Vernon High Schools, and coached at Borger and Longview.

During his three years at East Texas State College his football teams compiled a record of 30 wins against 2 defeats.

Coach of the Year is the label Smith was tagged with at one time by the Texas Sports Writers Association. He is also past president of the Texas Coaches Association.

Presentation of the Yoeman Booster Club Trophy, and crowning the Football Sweetheart, are among the activities on the banquet agenda. Cindy Nigliazzo and Gail Jeter are the nominees for Football Sweetheart. Other various Booster awards will be presented to club members, coach Stanislaw said.

Defense witness John P. Mayes testified to the character of Callaway and Snow. He said he was pleased to have been as-

Lions Set Meeting At Buckholts

Buckholts may soon have a Lions Club, first in the history of the North Milam town.

An organization meeting has been set for 7:30 p.m., Thursday, February 19, at the Buckholts High School cafeteria.

Dr. John Martin and Jim Camp, president of the sponsoring Cameron Noon Lions Club, met informally with a group from Buckholts and set preliminary plans for twice monthly meetings.

Dr. Martin said 10 men had already signed up as charter members. At least 20 are needed to organize a Lions Club.

John Boese of Austin, special representative of Lion International, will meet with the Buckholts group Thursday.

Dr. Martin said men in the Buckholts area who are interested in starting a civic club were invited to the organization meeting. "It is an opportunity for civic minded men to help achieve their community goals," Dr. Martin said.

Hearing Set For Doctors

A hearing for a permanent injunction against Dr. L. L. Nigliazzo setting up a medical practice in Rockdale will be held Tuesday, February 17 in 20th District Court before Judge W. C. Wallace.

A temporary injunction has been granted against Dr. Nigliazzo to restrain him from practicing medicine within 30 miles of Cameron after a contract dispute with Dr. W. R. Newton.

Dr. Nigliazzo has been associated with Newton Hospital since 1962 and his contract contained a "30 mile" provision, should the contract be terminated.

At the hearing for temporary injunction, the defense stated that due to the shortage of physicians it would not be in the best interest of the general public of the county to restrain Dr. Nigliazzo from opening his practice.

LOCAL YOUTHS ON PROBATION

Judge O. B. Harden placed four Cameron youths on indefinite probation to their parents Friday morning in Milam County Juvenile Court.

The hearing was set after the youths burglarized two local firms Sunday night taking tires, oil, candy, cigars, cigarettes and other merchandise.

All of the items taken were recovered and damage to the firms has been settled. The youths must now report at least monthly to their respective pastors and refrain from future violations.

MINOR ACCIDENT OCCURS FRIDAY

A two car accident occurred Friday at 12:10 p.m. at the corner of N. Travis and 12th Streets here in Cameron. Involved in the mishap were Mrs. Helen Inez Williams, Jr. and Luther Todd, both of Cameron.

Mrs. Williams was taken to Newton Hospital by a Green Funeral Home ambulance with a cut over her eye. Mr. Todd was later taken to Newton Hospital by Chief of Police John Shearin.

Chief Shearin said there was extensive damage to both vehicles, and that Todd was ticketed for failing to yield the right-of-way.

Fans Erupt In Last Second Win

By Skip Mills

"We're Number 1!" shook the rafters in Yoe Gym Friday night.

Robert Brashear softly parted the net for two points with one second on the clock, earning Cameron a 53 to 52 victory over Round Rock and the Yoe's first district championship in 17 years.

As the final buzzer sounded, the stands erupted. And Yoe Gym was packed.

A multitude of Yoe fans engulfed Cameron cagers and coaches. Off to one side a Round Rock player lay on the floor, his eyes filled with tears, the tension of the game too much.

It was a fabulous finale for a fabulous 13-1 record since January 1. The Yoemen were 5-9 for the '69 part of the season.

Cameron started fast as Brashear hit two from the base line. Round Rock rebounded on their first attempt. Yoe rebounded and Brashear made it Cameron 4-0.

The Dragons appeared stunned in the early going as the smaller Yoemen scored again and again from all points of the floor. With 3:24 left in the first quarter, Cameron led 10-2 as Brian Reinhardt, the Dragons 6'-4" sophomore, drew a foul and dropped in a pair of charity shots. Round Rock came back on a turn over and snared two more. Yoemen 10-6. Both squads traded fouls and shots as the first period ended with Cameron holding a 14 to 11 advantage.

Round Rock dominated the second quarter, controlling the backboards and scoring from inside. Cameron hurried their shots and lost the ball on miscues as the Dragons outscored the Yoe 17 to 9 in the second stanza.

Round Rock took a 28 to 23 lead to the dressing room as the half ended. Brashear led the Yoemen with 10 points and Reinhardt and Scott Whitlow had 10 each for the Dragons in the first half.

Second half action started slowly with Cameron taking the tip. Willie White was fouled and he made his shot good giving the Yoemen their first score of the half.

Cameron settled down during the third period and played ball control. Even though Yoe out-pointed Round Rock 13 to 10 they still trailed 38 to 36 at the end of the third period.

The Dragons captured the fourth quarter tip-off, but failed to score.

Yoe Co-Captain Johnny Steamer tied the game at 38 all with 6:46 left to play, and it was a new game. Brashear found the mark for Cameron as did Reinhardt for the Dragons.

Both teams wanted the win and the score changed hands five times in the final seven minutes. With the game wide open Round Rock took a 50-49 lead and pumped in two more points before Cameron connected.

Six seconds left on the clock, Yoe shot and missed as Round Rock grabbed the rebound and fired down court.

Cameron swiped the pass and whipped it to Brashear at mid court, three seconds to play. See BOB'S BASKET, PAGE 3

WORSHIP IN CHURCH

Sin's Grip

How deep in the filth are you? Does sin have you in its clutch . . . under its control? Have you ever stopped to determine what is sordid and what is sublime in this life? God said, "the rod of the wicked shall not rest upon the lot of the righteous." Maybe it is time, right now, to consider your plight . . . that you are bound by the strong hand of sin. God is always ready to cast a life-line to those who call upon Him. He will lift you out of the murky confines of sin and loose the grip which has you entangled. It's a good time to about-face, to start going to church. Why not pledge to spend each Sunday in worshipping the Lord during the rest of this year. He said to cast your burdens upon Him and He would sustain you.

Diplomatic Pouch

WASHINGTON, D.C.--The following letters were recently answered by the Department of State:

Alliance Funds

I would like to obtain a copy of the Charter of the Alliance for Progress as well as detailed information about the administration of Alliance funds. Are these funds administered through the Organization of American States (OAS)? If so, please send whatever information on how the OAS does this.

V.S.K.

Chadron, Neb.

Dear V.S.K.: Since the Alliance for Progress is a development program for Latin America utilizing all its development resources, public and private, internal and external, the funds are administered in many ways. The greater portion are administered by the individual governments themselves. The use of these funds is coordinated through an annual review of national development plans by the Inter-American Committee on the Alliance for Progress (CIAP), a multilateral group within the Organization of American States (OAS) established to coordinate the Alliance effort. CIAP also coordinates the external financing requirements of Latin America and evaluates their self-help development efforts. If, in your letter, you are referring to those Alliance funds contributed by the U.S. Government, these are administered by the U.S. Government working closely with the individual governments and the CIAP.

U.S. Abstention

Why did the United States abstain when the UN Human Rights Commission on March 3, 1969, condemned in a resolution the Israeli occupation of Arab territories?

K.P.

Alpena, Mich.

The resolution to which you refer was adopted by the UN Human Rights Commission on that date by a vote of 13 in favor, one against, and 16 abstentions. The United States was among the 16 that abstained. The negative vote was cast by Israel.

The U.S. delegation was unable to support this resolution for several reasons. It is one-sided in its approach to the question and, while calling for the establishment of a body to investigate allegations of human rights violations, it prejudices the results of the investigation.

Do you have an inquiry about U.S. foreign policy? Send it to: "The Diplomatic Pouch" P/M, Room 4835 U.S. Department of State Washington, D.C. 20520

1040 U.S. Individual Income Tax Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q I used Schedule T to figure out my tax. Do I have to send it in with my 1040?

A) Most taxpayers do not have to send in the Schedule T with their tax returns. However, if you are subject to self-employment tax, or claim retirement income credit, investment credit or foreign tax credit, you will have to file Schedule T with your return.

Q What is the filing deadline for farmers who did not send in an estimated tax return?

A) Under the Tax Reform Act of 1969, farmers now have until March 1 to file their return and avoid penalties for not making estimated tax declarations. This gives farmers two weeks more than they previously had to gather their records and prepare their return.

Since March 1 is a Sunday this year, farmers have until March 2 to file. Farmers should attach Schedule F to their Form 1040 and pay in full any tax that is due. Checks or money orders should be made payable to the Internal Revenue Service and identified by the taxpayer's Social Security number to make sure it is properly credited.

Q I will be sending in my tax return under my married name this year. Do I need a new Social Security number or anything else because of the change?

A) No, your number remains the same. However, make note of the change right under the address section on the front page of the Form 1040 you file. Enter here the name and address appearing on your 1968 tax return.

If you haven't already done so, give the local office of the Social Security Administration your new name and address.

Q I bought Christmas cards from my church. Can I deduct what they cost as a charitable contribution on my tax return?

A) Unless you contributed an additional amount to your church over and above what the cards ordinarily cost, no deduction may be taken.

The rule in this case is that charitable deductions are allowed when the amount of the purchase price exceeds the fair market value of the item received in exchange. Compare the cost of the cards to that of other cards of a similar nature to see if you have a contribution deduction.

Q When you inherit stock and then sell it, do you have to pay tax on the proceeds?

A) Your cost basis for the stock is its value at the date of death of the decedent from whom you inherited it. If you receive more than this basis on a sale, the gain is reported as a capital gain. If you receive less, the loss is reported as a capital loss.

Q Where can I get a copy of the form needed to claim moving expenses?

A) This form may be obtained from your local IRS office. Ask for Form 3903.

Q I'm paying back a loan I took to cover the costs of my daughter's college education. Is this deductible?

A) You may deduct the interest portion of your loan payments if you itemize deductions. If you are not sure how much of your loan payment represents interest, check with the bank or other institution that made the loan.

School Leadership . . .

Lott and Rosebud School Districts in separate votes February 7 approved consolidation of the two districts, thereby clearing the way for construction of a new consolidated high school and junior high at equi-distant Travis.

A bold step to resolve a serious building problem in Rosebud and to satisfy future school needs in both Lott and Rosebud carries forward.

The vote for consolidation was clear cut for the move: 228 to 49 favoring in Lott and 451 to 36 favoring the move in Rosebud.

These communities are setting a standard for other school districts who embrace their problems rather than throwing up their collective hands.

Such leadership is in the direction of growth when it would seem problems were taking these districts the other way. Congratulations to the leadership and school patrons who found a solution in unity.

The Typo Is A Sly Fellow . . .

The Thomasville Times-Enterprise says boldly in an editorial what all newspapermen know--we all make typographical errors.

"The Times-Enterprise at times has atrocious typographical errors," the editor admits.

"It isn't that no one here knows how to spell, it's just that stories go through at least seven operations where a mistake can be made inadvertently."

Then the Thomasville editor cites a typo in a recent book, "Gardening Do's and Don't's:

"If your footprints sink a half-inch or an inch when preparing a seedbed, then firm the soil with light rolling, or lay down a few broads at a time and step on them to flatten and firm the earth."

SLIPPERY: The subject turns me to a clipping from

The Waycross Journal-Herald.

This is it:

"The typographical error is a slippery thing and sly.

You can hunt until you're dizzy, but somehow it gets by.

"Til the forms are off the presses, but strange how still it keeps,

It shrinks into a corner and never stirs or peeps.

The typographical error is too small for human eyes

'Til the ink is on the paper, then it grows to mountain size$

The boss, he stares with horror and tears his hair and groans;

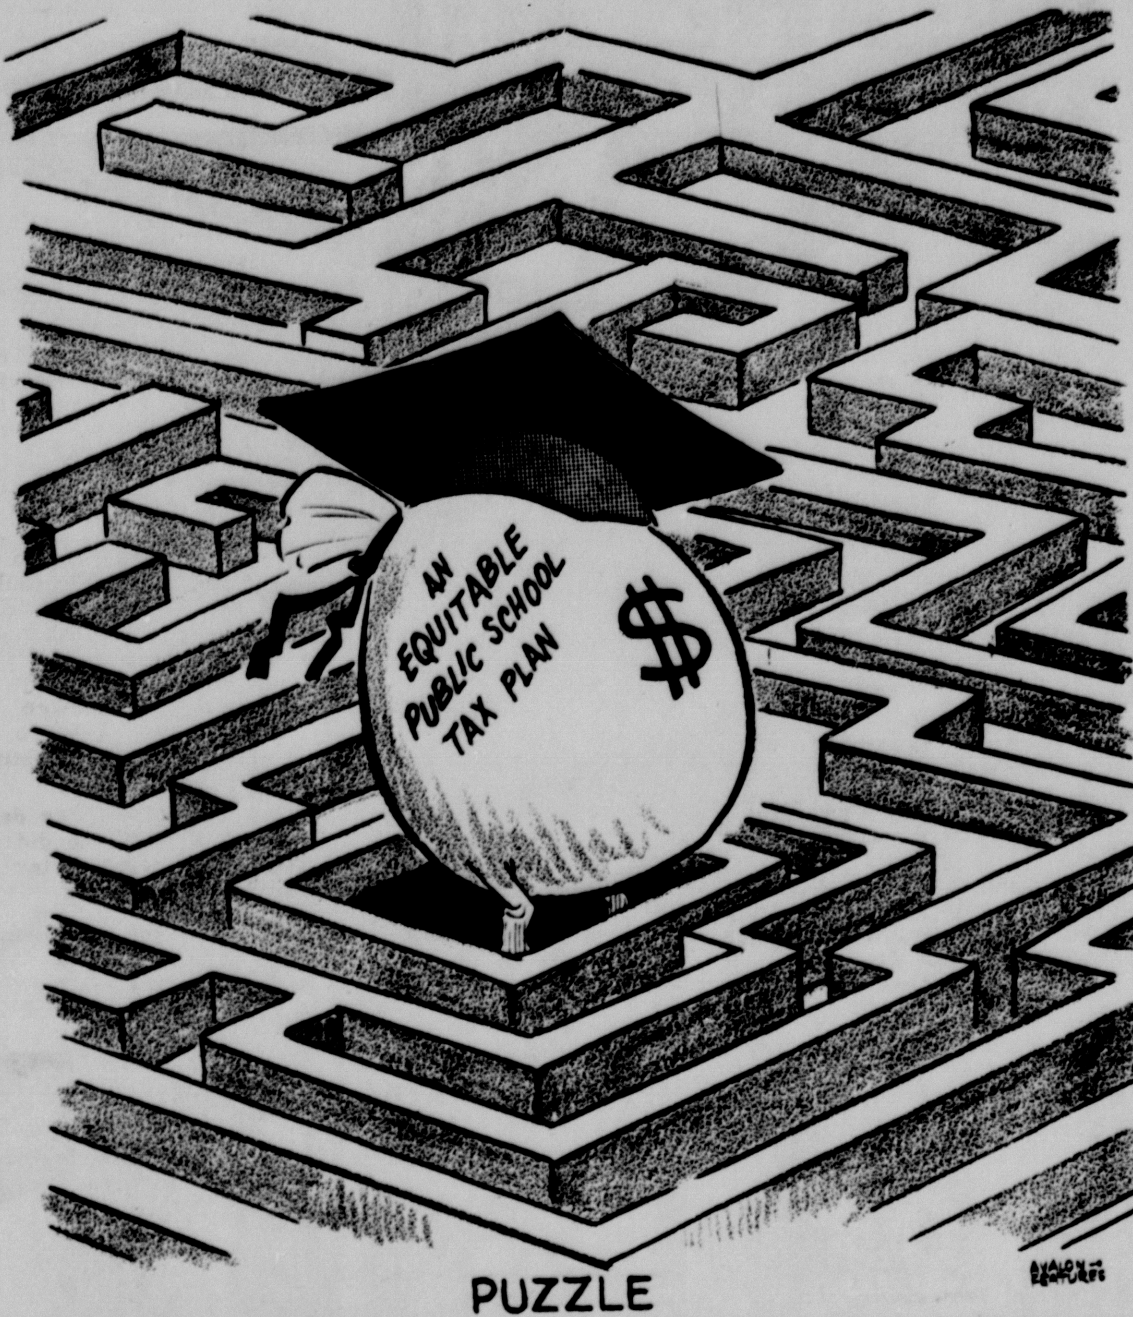

The reader who okayed the proofs just drops his head and moans,

For all the other printing may be clean as clean can be--

But the typographical error is the only thing you see."

PUZZLE

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Answering Insurance Questions

"Are you now in good health?" read the question on Harold's application for life insurance. As it happened, he did have a cold in the head. Nonetheless, he wrote "YES."

Unhappily, Harold's cold developed into pneumonia, which finally took his life. Could his widow collect the insurance? In a court hearing, the insurance company said the policy was invalid because Harold had told a lie by answering "YES" on his application form.

But the court ruled in the widow's favor. The judge said a person could fairly be considered "in good health" even with a minor ailment like a head cold.

Filling in application forms for life insurance may often raise doubts about the meaning of words. Generally speaking, the law allows an applicant to interpret language the way any ordinary, reasonably intelligent person would interpret it.

However, that does not mean the law will condone dishonesty. One applicant, asked whether he had ever had liver trouble, said no—even though he had indeed suffered at one time from that ailment. When the truth came out after his death, the insurance company refused to pay off. The widow, going to court, argued:

"Of course my husband knew he had liver trouble, but he believed it had all cleared up. So he didn't think he had to mention it."

Unconvinced, the court rejected her claim, because this was not a case of doubtful language but of outright deception. The judge said that since the insurance company was taking the risk of insuring the man's life, it was entitled to know all the relevant facts—and then draw its own conclusions.

Not even a qualifying phrase like "to the best of my knowledge" can take the taint out of a wrong answer, if the evidence shows that the person must surely have known better.

In short, in case of doubt, an applicant will find it safer to tell more than to tell less. Otherwise, he may be leaving his family not insured but only a lawsuit.

Kubiak Sees Drug Abuse High On States Priorities

"The problem of drug abuse by youthful Americans has reached epidemic proportions and is considered by many to border on a state of national emergency," Rep. Dan Kubiak warned in his newsletter this week.

Drug education seems likely to have a high priority among states and could appear high on the agenda of calls for extraordinary sessions, Kubiak said.

Closely associated with drug education will be legislation designed to provide tighter controls over the manufacture, sale and use of drugs and stiffer penalties for illegally providing such compounds to the general public, especially to young Americans without medical authorization, he added.

In other legislative matters, Rep. Kubiak said he and Rep. Tommy Shannon discussed the amount of new taxes that will be needed next session.

"After considerable discussion," he reported, "we have found that a very small tax bill will be needed to fund the essential expenditures and, unless some items change, very few new spending measures will pass the House of Representatives because of the tight money situation."

A committee, Economy in State Government, "has some startling recommendations to curb state expenditures," Kubiak noted. The committee will have a "tremendous influence" on the recommendations on economizing in state government during the 62nd session which begins in January 1971.

Another committee is studying the uninsured motorist's coverage, and will report within a few months on its findings.

The continuation of interim study of insurance in the state is being done by a committee. The study includes what has been done in other states and what Texas can do to cut down on the cost of insurance.

15 Buildings On National Register

Fifteen Texas buildings had been accepted as of mid December for inclusion on the National Register of Historic Places. The Restoration Department of the Survey Committee has also been complimented by the National Register Office in Washington, D.C., for the high quality of its nominations. All structures so far nominated have been accepted, and all state-owned buildings are automatically included, according to Dr. William J. Murtagh, Keeper of the National Register.

The purpose of the register is to insure that any structure listed on it will not be demolished through the use of federal funds. The listing also provides a strong psychological barrier to the destruction of historic buildings by any organization or governmental agency.

TEXAS NOMINEES

Among the places accepted from Texas are a number which are now, or were in the recent past, in danger of demolition. Properties added include, from historically rich Jefferson, the Alley-Carlson House, Epperson-McNutt House, Jefferson Playhouse, Old United States Post Office and Courts Building, Excelsior Hotel, Presbyterian Manse, and the Freeman Plantation.

From Galveston, three properties have been accepted: the George Sealy House, "Old Red" (first building of The University of Texas Medical Branch), and Ashton Villa (former home of J. M. Brown). At this time the Restoration Department is nominating an area in Galveston to be called "The Strand Historic District."

Plans for another historic district, primarily in the East End, were being studied by professionals there in November. The study is the first part of a program funded by a grant from the Moody Foundation.

AUSTIN SITES

Places accepted from Austin include the Driskill Hotel (in danger of being razed), Old Lundberg Bakery (to be preserved as part of a massive new Highway Department building; see related picture, page 3), and the French Legation. In San Antonio, structures on the register are the U. S. Arsenal (threatened by a federal building project), and Ursuline Academy (endangered by private expansion).

The National Register is a current descriptive listing of over 1,100 historic properties owned, preserved, and managed by governmental agencies or private individuals. It is available from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402, for $5.25.

THE CONVENT OF THE INCARNATE WORD in Brownsville was destroyed in January of 1969 to make way for a HUD-financed housing unit. The convent had been designated a Recorded Texas Historic Landmark in 1962 and nominated for inclusion in the National Register in the spring of 1969. The destruction was preceded by a 10-month battle carried on by the South Texas Heritage Foundation and the Historical Survey Committee, acting through Truett Latimer, state liaison officer for the National Historic Preservation Act. Brownsville citizens pledged more than $160,000 to purchase the convent from the Brownsville Housing Authority. The case was presented to the National Advisory Council on Historic Preservation in Washington on November 14 and a favorable decision was rendered by them. (This was the first Section 106 Case of PL 89-665 that had been heard from Texas.) The eventual loss of the convent would make a case study in Texas. The eventual loss of the convent was dedicated to a Christ-federal bureaucratic ineptness. The convent was dedicated to a Christ-mas Eve mass in 1868 and was destroyed just past its 100th birthday. Miss Ima Hogg Wins Award Four Books Also Cited

Miss Ima Hogg, nationally known Texas philanthropist, was honored recently by the American Association for State and Local History. The group voted an Award of Merit to Miss Hogg for her outstanding achievements in the preservation, restoration, and furnishing of homes and other buildings representative of historic Texas. The award will be formally presented later.

Among the many projects accomplished under the aegis of Miss Hogg, who is the daughter of former Governor Jim Hogg, are the Varner-Hogg Plantation, Governor Hogg's Honeymoon Cottage at Quitman, her Grandfather Stinson's house at Quitman, and the Winedale Inn Properties at Round Top.

She gave the priceless Bayou Bend furniture collection to the Houston Museum of Fine Arts and founded the Hogg Foundation for Mental Health. Miss Hogg was appointed a member of the first State Survey Committee, her term beginning in 1953.

The award given to Miss Hogg was announced by Richmond D. Williams, chairman of the awards committee.

Four books published in the Southwest were given Certificates of Commendation. They were Limestone and Log: A Hill Country Sketchbook, by Joe B. Frantz; The Writings of J. Frank Dobie: A Bibliography, by Mary Louise McVicker; The LS Brand: The Story of a Panhandle Ranch, by Mrs. Dulcie Sullivan; and Pioneer Texas Buildings: A Geometry Lesson, by Clovis Heimsath.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS BY VERN SANFORD

Can you toss that fishing lure exactly where you want it . . . and let it gently drop on the water . . . every time you make a cast?

Well, if you can, then you're a master caster. But you're one angler in a million, because it isn't easy to do.

How do master casters get that way? Just as in all other sports it's achieved by practice. Then more practice and more and more practice.

Give that little rubber casting plug a good workout day after day and week after week and you too can be proficient in the gentle art of casting, or perhaps we should say the art of gentle casting — for that's even more difficult.

Problem, of course, is finding the time to practice. If you're really interested you'll set aside the time, even if it's only 10 or 15 minutes a day.

Consistency is the real secret and determination to master the art is essential. You just gotta take the time, whatever the weather . . . be it hot or cold, dry or wet . . . and stay with it. Don't let rain or sleet or snow deter you.

One of the best master casters in Texas is Bill Carter of Dallas. Bill is a tackle representative for such firms as Zebco (rods and reels), Evans (lures), Newton (lines) and Road-runner (lures).

How did he learn the art? Bill tells me that he started flipping a plastic plug down the aisles of the stores he called on when he first began peddling outdoors merchandise. "It gave me something to do while waiting to talk to tackle buyers," said Bill.

Naturally the narrow confines of a retail store is not recommended as the place to practice casting. But it did one thing for Bill, it taught him to cast carefully — that's for sure.

Actually it made Bill one of the best trick casters in Texas. He can flip the ashes off your cigarette at 10 paces. He can drop a lure in a tin cup at 20 paces.

One of his favorite tricks is his black-light demonstration of casting in the dark. Others in his repertoire include the flip-cast, the bow-and-arrow cast, and the mother-in-law cast. And he does it all so easy and so well that he will amaze you with his accuracy — whether in the home, in the store, or on the water.

So, if you really want to learn to cast, take a tip from Bill who says "It's just a matter of practice."

New Books At City Library

Recent additions to the Cameron Public Library include the following books:

SPEAK, MEMORY, by Vladimir Nahokov, G. P. Putnam's Sons - The author of "Laughter In The Dark" recalls youthful years, a liberal-minded father, a beautiful mother, an army of relations and family hangers-on and lovely "civilized" homes in St. Petersburg and the surrounding countryside. Written in the author's inimitable style, his memories present a moving and nostalgic account of a vanished world.

THE COLLAPSE OF THE THIRD REPUBLIC, by William L. Shirer, Simon and Schuster, $12.50 - The story of how France fell before Hitler's armies in 1940, told against the background which alone can help to explain it. This book complements and completes the dramatic story of The Rise and Fall of the Third Reich, and promises to rank with it as one of the most important works of history of our time.

THE CHOSEN, by Chaim Potok, Simon and Schuster, $4.95 - The novel opens in the 1940's in the Williamsburg neighborhood of Brooklyn. Wit, dramatic and simplicity, "The Chosen" illumines the eternal, powerful bonds of love and pain that join father and son, and the ways in which these bonds are and must be broken if the boy is to become a man.

Yoe Seniors To Present Class Play

Friday and Saturday, February 20 and 21 the senior class of Cameron High School will present their annual class play in Ben Milam Cafeteria.

This year the presentation will be "Strictly Formal" by William Davidson. Both performances will be at 7:30 p.m. Admission will be $1.00 for adults and 50 cents for students. All proceeds will go to the senior class.

IDAHO VISITORS
Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Watson of Idaho Falls, Idaho are guests in the home of Mrs. Watson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Allison of the Marlow Community.

Bryan Educational TV Station Premieres Monday

Channel 15 will light up in "living color" Monday when KAMU-TV goes on the air.

The educational television station is operated by Texas A&M University but will serve the entire Bryan - College Station community and surrounding area, noted Mel Chastain, station manager.

Operating on a Monday through Friday schedule, the station will begin regular telecasts at 5 p.m. each day and normally sign off at 10 p.m. The station also will conduct instructional programs from 2 to 5 p.m. each day for the Bryan - College Station public schools and the university.

Chastain said the start of telecasting represents the culmination of four and one-half years of planning, 18 months of negotiation with the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the Federal Communications Commission and six months of equipment purchases, installation and testing.

"More importantly," he continued, "it marks the beginning of a new service available to the residents of our community."

KAMU-TV will feature Public Television programs from the National Educational Television (NET) Network and the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, augmented by local news, information and public service programming.

GRAPHIC ARTS SHOW, SALE AT BELTON CAMPUS

A one day presentation of original graphics will be held at Mary Hardin - Baylor College on February 17.

The exhibit will be on the third floor of Presser Fine Arts Building, in the college art department, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Shown by the Lakeside Studio, of Lakeside, Michigan, the show will include many original prints, lithographs, etchings, engravings, wood cuts and serigraphs.

Such artists as Goya, Rembrandt, Miro, Picasso and others will be included in the show. The public is invited to view the show at no cost, and the works will be available for purchase. A representative of the Lakeside Studios will be present at the showing.

THE PROMISE, by Chaim Potok, Alfred A. Knopf, Inc., $6.95 - Potok's new novel evokes the promise that the young make to themselves, to their own lives - the obstacles, life interposes, and the strength, the intelligence, the daring that must constantly be brought to bear if the promise is to be kept.

MARY, QUEEN OF SCOTS, by Antonia Fraser, Delacorte Press, $10.00 - Warmth, sympathy and compassion blend magnificently in this remarkably human biography of one of history's most controversial figures. In this monumental work, Antonia Fraser depicts all the romance, color, comedy, and tragedy that tempered the life and times of Mary Stuart, a woman who survived religious revolt and political opposition in her native land only to be denied her freedom, and eventually her life, by her rival and kinswoman, Elizabeth.

EXCEPT FOR ME AND THEE, by Jessamyn West, Harcourt, Brace & World, Inc., $5.95 - A companion to "The Friendly Persuasion," here are those gallant Quakers, young and in love, meeting the challenges of nature and man as the growing family travels westward, then encountering the bitterness and savagery that explode into the Civil War, later guiding their children through the confusing aftermath, and, finally, looking at their world with bittersweet maturity. For all its fascinating differences, their world confronts dilemmas strikingly contemporary - youthful rebellion, racial intolerance, social inequity, and warfare's misery. To each, Miss West brings deep and meaningful insights.

HAPPY FAMILIES, by Saul Maloff, Scribners, $5.95 - "Happy Families is the bitterly ironic title of a bold, probing novel. There is not one happy family in this story of a quest, and of an obsession. The central figure is Kalb, a man of intelligence, uncertainty and goodwill, who returns to New York City in search of his seventeen-year-old daughter, only to discover that she has disappeared. This is a novel of great imaginative vigor, written with a kind of sardonic exuberance. It arrests the reader, exhilarates, disturbs and renews.

THE POSEIDON ADVENTURE, by Paul Gallico, Coward-McCann, $6.95 - A tense and dramatic novel of a gigantic ocean liner - a floating Grand Hotel - and its passengers' struggle to survive when bizarre disaster strikes at sea.

"It's really an exciting schedule," emphasized Norman Godwin, program director.

Godwin said KAMU-TV will be particularly strong on children's programs, with "Sesame Street" and "Misterogers' Neighborhood."

The station will offer "What's New" for the pre-teenager, but Godwin predicted this general interest program also will attract numerous adults.

Teenagers and adults will be treated to such features as "Folk Guitar," "French Chef," "NET Journal," "Conversations With Eric Hoffer," "Spectrum," "NET Jazz," "The Creative Person," "News In Perspective" and the "Forsythe Saga."

KMAU-TV's February guide, giving the station's complete schedule with viewing notes, will be sent free to persons on written request.

Flu Count Makes Drop

Cameron schools and hospitals appear to be breathing easier this week as the flu problems begin to subside.

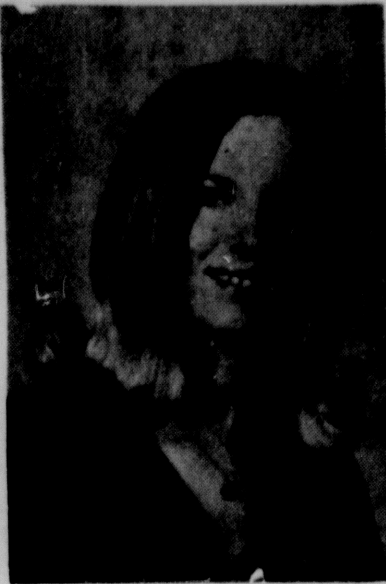

The Milam County Health Unit did not have a complete report from the doctors, but said indications were that cases are declining.

No report was available from Newton Hospital, but St. Edwards reported their case load to be a little lighter.

Attendance in the Cameron schools was reported to be very good for this time of the year.

IN ST. LOUIS

The Wilsons were married in 1920 and have lived most of their lives in Milam County.

They have three sons, Fred B. Wilson of Sharp, Jesse W. Wilson of Edinburg, and Kenneth D. Wilson of Ingleside. They also have 11 grandchildren and 3 great-grandchildren.

BAYLOR HOSTS CZECH ARTIST

A lecture and concert by Czech composer and Pulitzer Prize winner Karel Husa will highlight the sixth annual Festival of 20th Century Music Feb. 24 through 27 at Baylor University.

Husa, who presently is professor of composition and conductor of orchestras at Cornell University in Ithaca, N. Y., was the Pulitzer Prize winner for music in 1969.

Rogers PTA Recognizes 'Family Doctor' Course Proposed By Yarbrough

At the monthly Rogers Parent Teacher Association meeting held Monday night, Feb. 9, in the school cafeteria, Mrs. Edwin J. Psencik was awarded the Life Time PTA membership in the State organization. The presentation was made by Mrs. Joe Dubcak and her committee. The presentation was made in the form of a court trial. Taking parts on the program were Mrs. Woodrow Chervenka, Mrs. A. J. Lesikar, the Rev. Albert Michalek, Mrs. Otis Kovar, Mrs. C. O. Mayfield, Jr., and Wayne Psencik.

In the business meeting, Mrs. Lesikar's Projects Committee report was adopted. The following members were elected to the nominating committee: B. F. Harbour, Mrs. Joe Dubcak, and Mrs. Johnny Chervenka.

New officers for the Association will be elected at the March meeting and installed in April. John Bigham, State Representative from Bell County, was the featured speaker of the evening. Introduced by Donald Godwin, Bigham gave a resume of the educational legislation passed by the last session of the Texas Legislature, and the impact upon the schools in the years just ahead.

Senator Ralph Yarbrough has introduced a bill to help medical schools and hospitals educate larger numbers of doctors in the field of family medicine.

"In 1931, three-fourths of our physicians in private practice were general practitioners," Sen. Yarbrough said. "In more recent years the demand for specialists and the preference of many doctors to specialize has reduced the percentage of general practitioners to one-fifth of all doctors."

In the years 1963 to 1967 general practitioners decreased 7.3 percent, while the specialists increased as follows: surgical specialists by 15.9 percent, medical specialists by 18.6 percent, and others, 19.4 percent. The growth of the specialist was dictated by the dramatic advances in medical science that make it impossible for one man to master all the fields of medical knowledge. Surgery, pathology, internal medicine, psychiatry, pediatrics—all deserve the exclusive attention of great numbers of doctors. Today 80 percent of the graduates from medical schools prepare themselves for specialty practice.

The result has been a growing gap between families needing generalized health information and care for its men and women, babies, teenagers and grandparents who may suffer from time to time from a great variety of maladies and injuries.

Medical practice has begun to recognize the need for new training programs for the general practitioner. In some medical schools courses are now being offered which lead to a new specialty—the practice of family medicine.

The family practice doctor is trained to consider and to treat persons in the context of their family and parents. Preventive health is one of his major objectives. A second function is to refer patients needing specialty care or treatment to the right person and place. In that respect he is the single contact.

In February, 1969, the American Medical Association approved an American Board of Family Practice, with powers to conduct examinations and grant certification to family physicians. A few medical schools are offering or developing courses leading to certification in this field, including the University of Texas Medical School at Galveston.

"In order to support and stimulate in this field of medical study," Sen Yarbrough said, "I am introducing legislation to authorize the appropriation of 50 million dollars for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1971, 75 million dollars for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1972, and 100 million dollars for each of the next three fiscal years for the purpose of making grants to medical schools and hospitals to establish departments and programs in the field of family practice, and to encourage the training of medical and paramedical personnel in the field of family medicine."
